

California Education Dialogue

Acknowledgements

Much of the success of the dialogue is due to the dedicated work of consultants to the Joint Committee to Develop a Master Plan for Education, particularly Charles Ratliff. Senator Dede Alpert, the Chair of the Joint Committee, was a consistent advocate of public involvement in the work of the Committee and a strong supporter of the approach taken here. The Briefing Book for the dialogue owes much to the use of EdSource material; we are particularly grateful to Mary Perry for her help. Tom Beierle provided an invaluable model with his earlier work on Information Renaissance's dialogue on Public Involvement in EPA Decisions, and helped us to adapt the framework for this evaluation.

Principal Information Renaissance staff on the project were Laurie Maak, Bob Carlitz and Rosemary Gunn – with assistance from Gene Hastings and Ashley Schannauer. John Helie and John Ford assisted in moderating the conversation. Sally Hedman produced excellent summaries of the daily conversations, and Susan Benn designed the project Web site. Finally – and most importantly – we wish to thank members of the Joint Committee and others who served as panelists for the dialogue and the hundreds of individuals who made their time available as dialogue participants.
